Dear Sir, " " "
" " " Yours Private and Confidential of 2 P.M. This day I found on my return home. I was so fortunately surprised by your letter of yesterday to expect the report you have been obliged to send me and to me which I have not any thing to say. I have however the comfort to know that Mr. Diggins is in the most stable hands and also that your men they are for the most
- but Mr. William Knighton join the most ob-viate attachment to your superior medical powers. I trust to find the King has every comfort and under previous engine and the most most solely depend on the will of Providence. I might write volumes but the sentiments can only be the same and I therefore conclude by assuring you on Mr. William Knighton of my perfect confidence and reliance in your discharge of trust to His Majesty.

I remain,

Dear Sir,

Yours truly

W. Pitt Rivers
