Amorbach 4th March 1819

My Dear Sir

I have this day received your favor of the 23rd ultimo, and have now to inform you, that the Duke will again repeat in his letter to Sir Thomas Huxley, his injunctions to put all future ones for him, under an extensive cover to the Under Secretary of State; but you may depend upon it, the fault is altogether Sir Thomas's, as he has had the same instructions from His Royal Highness before. I quite concur with you C.R. Broughton Esq

to the Duke

Col. B. Harney to C.R. Broughton in repairing, at Her Majesty's Majesty the £10000 granted to the Duke of York, passed at the date of the 22nd, and I hope, as the Royal Duties lay in, the feeling of Parliament will be roused, to do something, that will make up to their husbands, for the shamefully parsimonious grant of last year.

 We are all happy, as you may suppose, at the prospect of Mr. Lamb driving Hobhouse out of the field, for although our illustrious friend is attached to the Whigs, no one can be a more decided enemy to 45526 to the Jacobins, than he is. The Duke desires to be kindly remembered to you, and I remain ever with the most sincere regards,

My Dear Sir,

Yours faithfully

B. Harney

Amorbach 16th March 1819

66 My Dear Sir

Your favor of the 2nd of March, with its inclosure from Messrs. Cottle & Co., that was conveyed by the hands of Mr.
 Goodwin's servant, through France to Frankfurt, reached me here, the day before yesterday, with the Mail of the 5th Inst. via Ostend / that of the 2nd through the Midland, being still deficient, we traced owing to the Packet having been blown back by adverse winds into some other Port than Ostend, and not from its loss. - from this, will be clearly proved, that, except in extraordinary cases, such as that, which has occasioned the detention of the Mail of the 2nd, be what it will,

75

75

 The route by Ostend, is always the shortest for conveying letters to this place. - Having said this, I have now the satisfaction of announcing to you, that His Royal Highness of Kent have come to the decision of proceeding to England, and have made their arrangements for arriving at Calais on Sunday the 18th of April; you will therefore have the goodness, after the receipt of this letter, which I calculate you ought to possess on the 29th of the Month, to forward no more here, but to send the Mails of Tuesday the 30th Inst., Friday the 2nd, Tuesday the 6th & Friday the 9th of April to Boulogne, under cover to Lord Clarendon, or in his absence to Mr. Chad, acting, during His Lordship's absence, as Minister Plenipotentiary to the Court of the Netherlands at Boulogne.

45528 to be delivered to M<sup>r</sup>. Chad, as the proper through post Town, marking under the seal of the inferior, recommended to the care of Mr. Chad, instead of to that of Mr.

Manderwill. but the Mails of Tuesday the 13th, & Friday the 16th of April, you will have the goodness to forward in like manner, to Mr. Foulblanque, His Majesty's Consul General at Calais, and Carley to send any packet, or communication you may receive, up to the 19th inclusive, by the Mail of that Night, addressed to the care of Mr. Mansell, Agent of Packets at Dover, but to transmit nothing later than the 19th, else when they go to Kensington. His Royal Highness also requests, that you will be good enough to direct Mess<sup>rs</sup>. Jones & Yarrill, his Messengers, in Burg Street, St. James' commencing commencing with the 22nd of April, on which day the Duke hopes to reach Lon-don, to transmit the Newspapers, and Gazette direct thru, instead of thru passing through your Office. - According to what you have said, with regard to the respectable Majority, by which the Duke of Norfolk's additional allowance was carried, the Duke of Kent bids me say to you, that, from all he learns from private correspondents, of the Members of the House of Commons, he fears his only chance of getting any thing done for himself, or his Brother, in the way of augmentation, will be on the birth of Christina, but he is also apprehensive, that the absence of the Duchess of Parma from England, at the time of her confinement, may may

67 201 45529-30
 more that object. I have now to add, that as the Duke, at present, is uncertain how long his stay may be in England, he has had the good m<sup>rs</sup>. for the moment, to dispense with my accompanying him, with the view of not separating me from my large, young family, but, under the assurance, that if he should remain the Winter, and in future reside the greatest proportion of the year in England, he will then send over for me and them, at the latter end of the summer. In the mean while, I am to superintend His Royal Highness's interests, here, and to send him each post day, a communication of our proceedings, which I shall of course transmit as soon with all letters to the Dutchess, from her Council of Regency, through the Mission at Francfort, and by your Coax, and the 79 75 exterior

exterior one of Mr. Hamilton, as usual; and, during this time, His Royal Highness has been good enough to promise, that he would favour us with the Daily News paper, after he has done with it; I therefore beg to recommend your continued attention to this interchange of correspondence, in the regularity of which, I know the Duke will take as much interest, as I do myself. His Royal Highness will have no gentleman with him until he reaches Calais, if therefore you wish to make any communication to him at Boulogne, you had better address him, direct. Captain Conroy will meet him at Calais on the 18th, and attend him to Hensington. - This is all, that I can think of, except adding, that a line

line from you, whenever you have anything interesting to communicate, accompanying the packets from His Royal Highness, will always be gratefully acknowledged by me, who remain ever with much regard.

My Dear Sir!
Yours faithfully
Manvey.

Wiesbaden. March 29th 1819

March. 1819

My dear Broughton

I write a few lines from this place, where we halted last night, on our route, by easy stages, to England, to enclose to you two letters, the one of which I will thank you to forward under an office frank, to my friend Genl Stevenson, and the other, through the Colonial office in the first packet for Naples. I have also to inform you, that the last arriving packet of the 2<sup>d</sup> March, met me at Frankfurt

53

Duke of Kent to C.R. Bronghton

on my arrival there, on the evening of the 2<sup>d</sup>, having been mislaid to Vienna, from which place it was returned. You will probably be able to account for this, when I bring to your recollection, that on the same day, you enclosed a letter, received by you after closing the mail from Mr. Gouty and, in your note to Col. Hawley, mentioned that the letter was to be taken by Mr. Gordon's servants, going via Paris, and which letter I perfectly recollect arrived at Amorbach at the same time with the mail of the 6th

I think on the 15th March, since when the mail of the 2<sup>d</sup> has been deficient. I find this under cover to Mr. Gas at Bruges, to forward to you; I calculate it will leave that place on the 6th April, and reach you on the 10th, so that I can hardly expect to receive an answer from you to it, but by the mail of the 13th, which, as well as that of the 16th, it was agreed between us should be dispatched under the cover of Mr. Bonplancqua at Calais. I am happy to say that

The Dutcher has borne her journey perfectly well thus far and I trust about the 22<sup>d</sup> or 23<sup>d</sup> I shall have the satisfaction of conveying her safe to Kensington

I am now just going to step into the carriage to proceed to Limburg which is our next station I have therefore only time to add the sentiments of friendly regard with which I ever am

My dear Broughton

Just before I step on my journey, to Aix la to reach to night, I write you these few lines, as the envelope, for the enclosed for my friend Mr Putnam, which I beg you will forward by hand immediately, and to inform you that we reached this without accident on the 3rd, and hope, from the present fine appearance of the weather, to complete our journey at

the period I have all along stated. Meaning to arrive at Brussels, on the 10th, I shall hope on that day to receive from you, the Mails of the 2nd & 6th, sent direct there, and also to find those of the 23rd & 26th Ultimo at least returned from Frankfurt, which I calculate must have gone there previous to your receiving my intimation of my intended return, I also look forward to receiving at Brussels on the 13th, the Mail of the 9th, and on the evening of 9. 18th at Calais, those of the 13th & 16th 45534

In the mean while I remain with every sentiment of friendship & regard

75 April - 1819

My dear Broughton
On my arrival at this place the day before yesterday, I received your favor of the 2<sup>d</sup>, and at the same time that of the 6th which gave me the first account of the poor Duke's of Clarence's misfortune.
From your allusion to an accident, you had met with in your hand, by which you commence your letter of the 2<sup>d</sup>, I am led to infer that you wrote to me by the Mail of the 30th March, which having gone to Frankfurt is not yet returned from thence,

61 as

as was the case with the two preceding ones. I hope however, as your last is written with your usual firm pen, that you are now thoroughly recovered from it. Of the birth of the Duke of Cambridge's Son, he was so good as to inform me by Estafette which reached me at Traneport early on the morning of the 28th Ult<sup>o</sup> and yesterday I got letters from him of the 6th giving me the most delightful account of the well being of both Mother & Child, as also of the poor Duchess of Clarence being out of all Danger, though 45537

I fear, from the steadiness of her frame, it will be long before she recovers the effects of so serious an attack. You will be already apprized, from the letter I wrote you from Traneport, that the missive packet of the 2<sup>d</sup> March had reached me safe, after first taking a trip to Vienna, so that the moment that of the 30th is returned from Traneport which I hope will be the case tomorrow or next day every thing will be square & right with regard to my 63 correct correspondance. You will be happy to hear that, ever since the day we set out from Amorbai viz from the 2<sup>d</sup> ultimo up to the 10 inst (that of our arrival here) we have never had a drop of rain but the finest clearest weather possible so that I have been enabled to drive the Duchess, in a particularly easy little low four wheeled Chair, with a pair of my own horses, the whole way, and the unquestionably is rather the better, than worse for the exercise, in 76 198 45538

short letters every thing has been most prosperous and I trust every thing will be so to the end.

I have now only time to recommend all the enclosures to your kind attention, to state the pleasure I shall have in presenting you to the Duchesse, and to assure you of the sentiments of friendly regard with which I ever am

My Dear Wroughton
Yours faithfully

Edward B

just write a few hasty lines to thank you for them, and to apprise you that we reached this today at one o'clock, without accident, the Duchess in excellent spirits, and much less fatigued than I really from the appearance of the evening. My friend Mr Patnam who did live at 8 Adles Street removed from there about a twelvemonth ago to some Street attached to Cavendish Square, but to which I cannot tell, however his direction may certainly be found out by enquiring at his old lodgings or at Stobson's Hotel. I would request therefore that enquiring may be made at those two places which I think cannot fail of being attended with the desired effect. I at present have only to recommend to you

I received at this place at 1, to day, your favor of the 19th, by which I am happy to find, that my packets of the 13th and 14th from Brussels, the latter left to be forwarded by the mail of the 16th, had reached you, and I have to thank you for your kind attention to its enclosures.

We have been wind bound here, since we arrived, on the 18th, the Yacht being unable to get out of the Harbour without a leading wind;

but there is a prospect, we are assured, of the wind coming round so as to enable us to sail tomorrow bring the Duke's safe to Kensington on the 25th. He is, thank God, perfectly well,

 The Lord Argent and I think I may well be proud them for Mr. Mandeville, and the P.S. If you can make it convenient to run over here immediately after reaching the Office tomorrow you will oblige me particularly, as I have something to say to you which I can not so well commit to paper.

My Dear Bronghton

I have this moment learnt from my friend Doctor Rufus that Mademoiselle Leboyer, the Lady who has been selected to attend the Duchess's Daughter, Princess Feodor, as Governess, is expected to be arrived at Calcutta, by the time when the packet, with the Mail of this day, will reach it. I am therefore under the necessity of sending off by the Mail Coach to Windsor, C. R. Bronghton Esq. to to Hawaii, for the purpose of proceeding to Cuxhaven to join the Madam, and return in attendance upon her from thence, my servant Charles Lingert you will oblige me therefore, upon the receipt of this immediately to secure for him, from the Foreign Office, the necessary passport to enable him to embark at Hawaii, and proceed to Cuxhaven and return, and that you will also procure the requisite passport for Madame de Lehzen to land, when she arrives, without being subject to detention, in order that she may join join the Duchess without delay.

I must further trouble you to give Lingert, a letter to the Agent of Pachet at Hawaii, requesting him to do what is requisite to procure him a passage in the packet, that sails tomorrow for Cuxhaven, and another to the Agent at Cuxhaven, to secure one in the first, that shall be returning from Cuxhaven to this, for Madame de Lehzen, attended by Lingert, after she has reached that place, and, lastly, that you will recommend Madame de Lehzen to the particular kind attention of the Agent at Cuxhaven who is, I think, your acquaintance and he whom perhaps you had best address the papers for that Lady. All the packet expens, if the respective agents will have the goodness to pay I will reimburse him. This will be delivered to you as usual by the Messrs and Lingard will call at the Foreign Office, for the passport and your letters between 5 and 6 as he has other plans to call at before he starts.

I remain ever with the most kindly regard

Yours faithfully

Having, in the absence of Captain Carter, who was returned to Islington, before the Messenger came back from Downing Street, opened your letter by that Office, enclosing that of your Warwick correspondent, I now transmit to you an order on Messrs. Coutts & Co. for the sum of £10,000, which will enable you to discharge the Bill that will be presented from the House of Messrs. Fry's

My Dear Broughton

I have now to apprise you that we start tomorrow morning for Sidmouth, which we propose reaching on Thursday Evening next, if therefore you have any thing to send me by the mail of Monday and Tuesday evening, it must be addressed to me at Salisbury at the Bishop's Palace, after that at Woodhouse Cottage Sidmouth, with the view of saving you and your assistant as much trouble as possible, I have settled with Mr. Fauling from Monday morning next, to direct, all letters that may arrive for me at the General Post Office in Lombard Street or the two penny post office in Queen Street at once four o'clock to Salisbury and Sidmouth in a particular bag, which I shall thereby be enabled to get the moment the post arrives.

 All letters that are sent here by hand or arrive addressed here by the bye posts from this vicinity will be made up into a packet by the Clerk

Clerk & leave here at five each evening, being dispatched to my Agent Mr. Rickland in Queen Street who will be provided with a Treasury frank for all such, which will be dispatched each evening by the post, that leaves that for Lombard Street, a quarter before six, that it will only remain for you to take charge of forwarding to me those letters that arrive at the Foreign Office for me under your cover, and, in return, I shall only trouble you with such packets as contain

The Duke and my foreign correspondence. In conformity to this arrangement a packet will accompany this to go by Tuesday's Mail and I hardly think it possible that you can expect another from me prior to that day-senight the 28th which will be from Sidmouth. In the mean while I remain with every sentiment of friendly regard and sincere esteem

My dear Broughton

I just write a few lines to apprise you that if any thing arrives by the Mail of tomorrow for me, I shall wish you to addup it to me, recommended to the care of the Postmaster at Stminster, where I sleep on Thursday night, but, after tomorrow, all packets for me to be adduped to London, recommended to the care of the Postmaster here, and not to London as originally settled as by adopting this method I have ascertained that

I shall get my letters twelve hours earlier.

All are well that are with me, which I know you will be happy to hear.
I have only time to repeat the sentiments of friendly regard with which I ever am

90 My dear Broughton

I duly received your favor of the 22<sup>d</sup>, addres'd to me at Exminster, and, at Salisbury, the preceding day thou addres'd to that place. I should have been most happy to have had the pleasure of seeing you before I set out for the west, for many reasons, but as that could not be, I have only to observe, that I shall be happy to hear from you, if ever you have occasion to speak to an illustrious relative of mine upon a certain subject, when I am sure you will always impress on his mind, the firm assurance, that no one's more

Sincerely

sincerely attached to him, or would go farther to serve him than myself.

We all arrived here in excellent health in the course of yesterday afternoon, evening, notwithstanding the dreadful hurricane of snow storm we had to encounter which commenced about 1 and lasted till night.

I as usual trouble you with sundry letters for Tuesday foreign mail & shall very probably trouble you with others tomorrow. Having nothing further to add, I shall take my leave of you, repeating the sentiments of friendly regard with which I am at all times
