

Observations on Mr Robinson's List of Pensions.

His Majesty will perceive how very small a sum has been annually given in Pensions to Members of Parliament.

Mr Selwyn's £500 a year has been given from time to time as an additional Salary to his Place, in consequence of a Justice at the Borough of Luggershall. His memorial accompanies the List.

Mr James Lockburn is in the extreme-est distress: He has received the Pension in the name of Lady Lockburn; His Majesty will consider, whether it will eight to suppress this Pension entirely, or to leave Lady Lockburn in this, or insert her in some other list on account of her distress, & the former connexions of her father with his Majesty & the Royal family.

Mr Bowly his Pension of £200 p<sup>ann</sup> was given to replace his loss by quitting the Board of Excise. Lud North believes that Mr Bowly, who will be very grateful for the continuance in Lady Mary's name, does not wish to be continued in the list in his own name.

The accounts in the Post go down to Mich<sup>mas</sup> 1779. The Post were copying, & will be born with his Majesty.
