

A. H. to Lord North

Ap. 21 1782

4668

Printed, House II 427.

Lord North cannot be surpris'd that a mind truly true to pieces should make Me less attentive to my expressions. I certainly did and do still think the Accounts ought to have been regularly given in; but I did not mean by that to express any intention of withdrawing my good Opinion of them.
He must recollect I foretold the consequences if a total change was made and every hour only convinces Me more of the truth of my Assertions.
April 25th 1782.

? 21st

[Faint, illegible handwriting on a piece of aged, yellowed paper with a grid pattern.]

21. Apr. 1782