

The Prince of Wales

to

Lady Elgin

AA

Sept. 12. 1797. 49205

My dear Auntess,

I propose being in town on Sunday night, & divine if the weather permits that you will bring the little girl with you to further some at eleven on Monday morning, but should the weather prove unfavourable I hope that will not prevent your coming, as I will then communicate all my ideas to you, as well as every thing that passes at my own house.

Yours truly
Sept. 11.
1797

Yours most affectionately
George B.

48802

[Faint, illegible handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page]