Thank obliged to you my dear Countess for your comfortable note about the ^{Board} ~~Board~~ ^{title} I have a good many things to say to you when we meet upon the subject of the appointment of Miss Heyman to succeed Miss Vannet, you may easily guess how disagreeable it is to me to give my consent, however I know you will see, when I see you again, that it was impossible for me on my own account to do otherwise.
Nevertheless I ever must feel it as the perhaps, that the too present is also, but too true out of sight, out of mind, at least that the presence of some, obstructs the remembrance of those that are absent. Praying & true and eff dit in badminton, however I hope my apprehensions are groundless, yet I confess I feel hurt at their absence. Pray give my best regards to ^{my} dear Charlotte, & tell her that nobody wishes her better, or loves her good name ~~more~~ ^{more} & sincerely from the bottom of their Heart, than, Crotchhill,

March 18th.
