Nov^r. 23. 1750th.

The Lord Chancellor offering his humble Duty to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, begs leave to inform His Royal Highness, that His Majesty has been pleased to command him to lay before His Royal Highness the enclosed Paper containing an Outline of the Plan which His Majesty proposes respecting the Care and Education of Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte, previous to any determination being made what persons should be appointed to the important Situations to which the Paper relates.

Tuesday Nov^r. 27th. 1750th.

The Lord Chancellor, with every Sentiment of Respect and Duty, acknowledges the Receipt of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales's letter of the 24th instant.

With the same Sentiments he expresses his Hope that His Royal Highness will allow him to mention, as His Royal Highness's letter leads him to doubt whether he is sufficiently aware of that Fact, that the Paper, which he had the honour of transmitting, was delivered by His Majesty himself to the Chancellor, with His Majesty's Commands that the Chancellor should communicate it to His Royal Highness. Having stated this

This Circumstances, he very humbly solicits that His Royal Highness will be graciously pleased to inform him whether he is to acquaint His Majesty that His Royal Highness has returned the Paper to the Lord Chancellor, signifying His Desire that all Communications upon this Subject with His Royal Highness should pass through the Earl of Moira, who is as the Chancellor understands at present in Scotland.

The Lord Chancellor further humbly informs His Royal Highness, that he has communicated the Letter he has received to Mr. Pitt, expressing His Royal Highness's Pleasure that Mr. Pitt and the Lord Chancellor should explain to His Majesty what the Earl of Moira had been authorized to state to them upon the subject. The Lord Chancellor can only most respectfully and dutifully assure His Royal Highness that according to His Understanding of what the Earl of Moira has been pleased to communicate to him, He has nothing to add to what He has already stated to His Majesty, and that according to that Understanding, the Lord Chancellor is not aware that any part of what His Majesty stated in the Paper transmitted to His Royal Highness as prepared by His Majesty, is inconsistent with what the
