

Bishop of Exeter.
Parliament S^h 1805.

AA

49538

The Bishop of Exeter most humbly intreats his Majesty's forgiveness for not obeying his command of attending the Princess Charlotte to the Queens Palace.

The Bishop trusts that Lady De Clifford has had the goodness to inform his Majesty that it was not possible for him to leave the House of Lords.

The Bishop is most severely mortified that he had not the honour of seeing his Majesty, as there are several little circumstances relating to the Princess Charlotte which he anxiously wished to have had his Majesty's Commands upon: and he ventures to express his hopes that his Majesty will honour him with an Audience in the course of the ensuing week.
