

I make my Will

First, I leave all my best Books, & all my Books to the Rev. Mr. Nott.
Secondly to Mrs Campbell, my three watches & half of my Jewels.

Thirdly I beg Mr. N. whatever money he finds me in possession of, to distribute to the Poor: and all my money I leave to the Poor, to them. I leave with Mr. Nott all my Papers which he knows of, & I beg him to burn those he sealed up. I beg the Prayer Book which Lady Elgin gave me, may be given to the Bishop of Exeter, & that the Bible Lady Elgin gave me, may be given to him also.

Also all my Play things the Miss Fishers are to have, & lastly concerning Mr. Gagarin & Mr. Lewis, I beg that they may be very handsomely paid, & that they may have an House.

Lady de Clifford, the rest of my Jewels, except those that are most valuable, & these I beg my Father & Mother, the Princeps, and Prince of Wales to take. Nothing to Mrs Udny, for reasons —

I have done my Will, & trust that after I am dead, a great deal may be done for Mr. Nott. I hope the King, will make him a Bishop —
