My dearest Papa -

As I know you are always so kind as to wish that all applications should be made to you by myself I have been under some fears that you should have been offended with me on account of the one last having written, but as I had to recently troubled you ever of said pending matter I fear to do so - I flatter myself you do not think that ever by means of a deliberate confidence on my part.
As the time now approaches for my going to Windsor, I feel still more desirous of introducing & obtaining your permission for seeing some of my friends there. Without which neither myself ^{nor} they could for a moment entertain an idea of it.

I need not say how much pleasure it would afford me during my stay if you could see objection in granting my request, but when this alone is all other occasions I commit myself to your affection & judgment.
Waiting your pleasure, & with the hope for your indulgent return, I remain
Dear me ever

Yours affly

A. D. Pitt-Rivers
