? 1814

Sir,

I take the liberty of troubling Your Royal Highness with a few words just to say that I had the honour of receiving your commands, and, hinting the subject to Princess Charlotte, I found Her Royal Highness fully disposed to enter into the propriety of changing her Drive tomorrow - as also that of preventing any thing of the kind, to which Your Royal Highness alluded, from happening in the future.

Princess Charlotte seemed also fully sensible of your goodness in not wishing to deprive her of the amusement she derives from her airings in the Park, and I am sure, will always be desirous to meet your wishes in every respect.

I am,

Sir,

With great respect

Your Royal Highness

most obliged and dutiful Servant

E. C. Knight
