My dear Mother -

That I did not desire to write to tell you of my safe arrival here yet I flatter myself you will not think I am in danger of leaving your side, hoping that I shall have on Saturday evening quite safe & without any accident of the travelling my part - The first night of sleep at the hotel here I felt as ever, had enough to remind of my stopping wherever it may be
 - possible to me - find what facilities to be much the comfort of my journey was the ^{Baronche} ~~Baronche~~ you were to lead us to land, as the case of it made me rather very little pain, as in
 - convenience in my time I wish I should of the vic. now done -

I begone the woman Betty today for the first time had carried out my and effect it has had, so I have now every reason to believe I should will be the thing -

The chief object of this letter was to inform my thanks to you for the money you have given me, to which I received from the sum of the night before I left London - you know not how much I feel every proof of kindness from you, so that moment doubtless, I am very returning much of affection would be becoming I am desirous to see -

Believe me
My dear Mother
Ever
Your affectionate
Daughter
