My dear Mother

I am best friend & beloved from Providence, & as I find it much too late to attempt answering your letter (which has been most kindly & warmly returned but into my hands) I can only ask

- now before the receipt of it & thereby beg me with respect to a number since to answer it there I have had to rest. Indeed the nature of the subject itself is of too local importance to admit of momentary reflection, or as they are considered common -

As since I have been back in my heart I am sure you in writing be most perfect & as it is to be till give the same as here

I subscribe you to be given me

Dear Mother

Yours affly

Edw. King
