My dear Mother

A thousand thanks for your enquiries after me, & for your intention of coming down to see me. I am sure you do, you only say it will make me very happy, but I should be sorry if you thought of doing so on the account, as the time is so near I am quite conveniently - Lady Gloucestre will write you without fail of me, & therefore I need not say any thing about myself -

The Countess of Essex last day, & feeling her self better than since, I am sure must be able to have prevented me from writing sooner

An acquaintance came with a letter I have received from my Mother, informing me that she leaves her house this month & goes by sea to Paris, where she intends to stay only as short time, on her way to England - She acknowledges the receipt of two of my letters, & tells me that by Lord Standonoff, & his Brother General Mather (who has returned to England) she has sent me a variety of things, which she has ordered to be sent - I mention this, as I would beg of you to be so kind, as to order inquiries to be made about these things for me, as soon as Lord Standonoff arrives, that I may get them without unnecessary delay - I will not move, but as soon as I hear of the
