My dear Brother

Being now thank God much better I seize on the earliest opportunity to assure you of my recovery as I am too well acquainted with your affection not to be certain that it will give you pleasure to hear of from myself that I gain strength every Day though I am very low. You who have the blessing of having so charming a little Girl as Charlotte will feel for any loss. God grant that you may have the Comfort to see her every Day improve and be convinced dear Brother that how ever severely I may feel my own misfortune my heart is ever open to share the happiness of those I love. — I can never be sufficiently grateful to the Duke for his affectionate and tender care and attentions. I only wish that my Friends could see how happily I am situated and am glad that Mr Orbuthnot has been here at a time where he could not only judge of my situation but give great comfort to my Friends by the accounts he brings.

My Love to dear little Charlotte. The Duke begs that I will present his Compliments to You and I beg that You will believe me dear Brother Sturford
Yours most affectionate Son Charlotte Augusta Matilda
