Louvbourg June 4, 1702 th

Sir

Not having it in my power to present my humble Congratulations in person to Your Majesty on this day, I must take the liberty to express by letter the dutiful wishes I form for Your happiness. I hope the Almighty will attend to the many Prayers which will be offered up to him on this occasion and grant You every earthly blessing and a great many returns of this day; which will be a blessing not only to us but to all Europe.

The Duke also desires me to present his humble duty to Your Majesty and Yours with me in every sentiment of love and duty on the occasion. As my House cannot be finished to day, the Duke intends keeping Your Majesty's Birth-day by shewing me a fine part of the Country which I have not yet seen and in the Evening we shall go to the play which ever continues to be my favourite amusement. In about a fortnight we expect a famous actor here, I stand, who is to act about a Month, and to put the Theatre a little in order which it requires very much, though on the whole we have a pretty good Company of Comedians.

I will now take up no more of Your Majesty's time and remain with great respect and most dutiful Affection
