My dearest Brother

Did I only attend to my feelings I should trouble you with frequent Letters, but knowing how much your time is taken up, it appears to me that it would be indiscreet to write unless I have something particular to communicate to you. However at the beginning of the Year I cannot be silent and must according to our old British custom express the wishes I ever form that you may enjoy every earthly happiness and sometimes turn your thoughts towards a Sister who ever thinks of you with Affection. I was happy to hear that the Queen

Journey to Brighton has done both her health and spirits good, knowing how much she is attached to you dear Brother I was convinced that she would be the better for paying you a visit. My Sisters are also delighted with your kind regards to them.

The Young desires me to present his Compliments to you and I remain with sincere Affection

My dearest Brother

Your most Affectionate
Sister and faithful Friend

Charlotte.
