

Hered. Princess of Brunswick [Jan. 29th 1765]

51986-7

Sir

your Majesty was very good to send me your Speech; poor Caroline I would have liked to have seen her face when first she heard she was to be married, all we hear of the Prince is good his vastly lively & by the Picture that the P. Terese has he is handsome & she says his better than that the Prince of Orange is quite hurt that he is not to have her, & indeed I hope still that he will be my brother for there is no Prince that I have seen that to compare to him, if it was only me that said so I would not write it but the Prince who knows him better than me says the same thing.

I have this morning for the first time ^{been} a horse back, the Prince has always wish'd that I should, but it's very dangerous when I was with child. so that I deferred it till now.

my Mother don't approve of it so that I hope you'll take my part with her, for she will remember that the P. talked of it when we were at Leicester House, I am

Handwritten text, possibly a signature or a note, written vertically on the right side of the paper. It is difficult to decipher but appears to start with 'The Prince'.
