My dearest brother

The Dow Princess of Sweden have left us this morning they intend coming to England in the spring but will keep the incognito living where the eldest hopes you will see him in private he is not a generous but I believe a honest man he cry'd when he saw the Princess because she is like his mother he has a flucting heart he has told me a great deal about my sister that make me vastly happy he has beg'd of me not to name him but to desire you to use your entreat with her that she should not persecute Benevolence she has sent him in answer & she will never be quiet till he has his return in your file, you are good about Mademoiselle de Borlen, Countess Cholebourn write to you about her brother not paying her what is her due & wants you to allot so much out of his salary for her, my ardent wish for you & your family are, at all times the same but at this time of the year I must not miss asking you particular of my sincerely good wishes I ever am my dearest brother Your most dutifull

sister & subject
Augusta.
