My Dearest Sister,

I hasten to thank you for two very affectionate letters which have reached me since I last wrote to you and from which I have at least the comfort of learning that your health continues good amidst every distressing circumstance. I shall with great pleasure endeavour to execute your wishes in regard to the Disposal of the Estates which are mentioned in your last letter, and shall lose no time in employing a proper Person for that purpose. I shall also take an early Opportunity of recalling Lord Grenville's Attention to your Application for Support from this Country, which I am confident will not experience any difficulty when brought forward.

I am ever

My Dearest Sister,

Your most affectionate Brother
Signed George R. Esq.

61. The letters which, you, my Dearest Sister, enclosed to me for the Princess of Wales were immediately forwarded to her She has lately had the measles, but, I understand in a slight <sup>degree</sup> but they have not affected her general health so as to give you cause of uneasiness.
