Sir

81 11

The great importance of Your Majesty's message repeated to me by the Earl Waldegrave, makes me presume, to address myself thus immediately to Your Majesty.

I hope that I shall not be thought wanting in the Duty I owe Your Majesty, if I humbly continue to entreat Your Majesty's permission, to remain with the Prince & my Mother; this point is of too great consequence to my happiness for me not to wish ardently Your Majesty's favour & indulgence in it.

I have not ventur'd hitherto myself to represent to Your Majesty, my earnest wish that the Earl of Bute might be plac'd in some principal situation about my person; but being now commanded by Your Majesty to explain myself upon that subject, I presume most humbly to lay before Your Majesty this my most ardent request, & my only one with regard to an Establishment Your Majesty most graciously intends for me; nothing can make me happier, or fill my mind with warmer gratitude, than Your Majesty's gracious condescension, in favour of a person, whom early and long acquaintance has so naturally pointed out to my preferance; and of whose Duty and Zeal for Your Majesty, I have the most certain knowledge.

I humbly hope that this request will appear so reasonable to Your Majesty, that I shall on this occasion, experience the same paternal tenderness which has hitherto so much contributed to my happiness and the continuance of which I shall ever think my greatest comfort; penetrated with these sentiments

I beg leave to subscribe myself

Sir

Your Majesty's
Most Dutifull

Grandson, Subject and Humble Servant.
