Prince of Wales to Lord Carlisle

My Dr. Lord. I am told just now, that Baron Hilton is dead, which makes a Vacancy at Carlisle; So knowing your affection to me, I flatter my self, you'll not refuse my recommendation. It is for a friend, whom I will name to you, My Dr. Lord, as soon as I shall have your answer. He is ready to stand all expences, and will think himself very happy with yr. Patronage. If you'll approve it, the messenger shall give this letter to Chancellour Wough, written in my name by his friend Dr. Ayscough at Carlisle. I thought he deserved that regard from me, being your friend, and having so remarkably behaved last year. Many Compliments to Lady Carlisle and R<sup>s</sup>. Irwin,

1695
who I hope is easy at present on the Brigadier's Account, the Campaign being most over. You'll believe me when I tell you my Dr. Lord that you'll always find a very sincere friend in Frederick P.

P.S. If my Proposal meets with Your approbation, You'll be so good to send Yr. Orders by this Messenger on to Carlisle, where he'll deliver the Letter to Chan<sup>r</sup>. Wough, and the rest of Yr. Commands.
On his return from Carlisle, he is to call on Chan<sup>r</sup>. Bootle. You'll be so good to direct him, where he can meet with him,
