Prince of Wales to Sir P. Boodle

Chifden. Oct. the 1.

1746.

Dr Boodle, Baron Hutton being dead, I send this Messenger to L<sup>d</sup> Carlisle, for his Interest, of which I send Y<sup>r</sup> this Copy; Arescough has writ to his friend the Chancellor Wough, in my Name, for his Interest, which I have sent L<sup>d</sup> Carlisle too, to forward it, when he has given his Aprobation to it. The Messenger has Orders on his Return from Carlisle to give Y<sup>r</sup> this. I and my Family, and friends are well; Parliament meets the 18th of Nov. No news, but the good Empresses

Successes in Italy, who has shewn her self a true friend to us. Genoa, and all her Grand Ports, are now fill'd with English Vessels; The Flag, the English Flag, rides with elignity about, and she designs to visit Provence now, to return to France, the visit they design'd us last Winter. Consider the harvest the coats will make among the Mulberry Trees, how quick their fine Olive Branches will burn, and tho' they profess'd there should be no Olive Branch for us, unless we'd restore Cape Breton.

She'll teach em what England through Her Naturall Allies, and Her many ea do.
 So much for the Continent. Write me by this Opportunity how matters will do about Y<sup>e</sup>, and in the North, and if Scarff and more Places will do. Finel You Dr Botle but Burroughs, I'll find People, and good ones. J. Pitt behaves very well, and has given me an undeniable Earnest of his Zeal. I run this, and depend allways on Y<sup>r</sup> very sincere friend Frederick P.

M<sup>rs</sup> Martin scises hands next Sunday for Maid of Honour. The Queen writ it to the D<sup>ch</sup> of Sommersett, who I see by her Letter was mightily pleas'd with it.
