Lord Carlisle

y<sup>r</sup>

I received the favour of yours last night as to the Governor. I hope it is in a good way I had a servant come up carrying three letters one to you from Harrison which I open'd by the P. order the substance of it was that they thought money would do the thing General Rodady is find upon and he goes to know he is a rich man and extremely busy at the ministry so he is very proper there must be another but I believe that is not yet find upon, as to the Baron Jester is gone down but I must own I have not so much expectation there as I have of the other as to y<sup>r</sup> I know him and have as had an opinion of him as the Duke can have but I think he cannot play the Duke false in this it would raise the indignation of the whole country against him and you sure I would resent it in the strongest manner I could therefore I hope there is no danger and that you will be able to succeed in your negotiation I hope soon to see you in town and that the country will agree with you pray make my compliments to the Duke and let him know that I had letters yesterday that my Lord Forleville has given it up for you.

Yours &c

Your most faithful servant
