Sir,

I have the honor to acquaint your Majesty, that I am but this instant arriv'd at Hanover, where I received your letter from the hands of P. George, as for P. shade I find him as usual, but he thinks me altered.
They are both in the room, and therefore it is almost impossible for me to say more at present, but to assure your Majesty that I am your most
