

William Henry
Duke of Gloucester

AA

to
The Prince of Wales

Nov. 1. 1700.

Dear Sir,

The Duke of York seemed to be pleased with the thoughts of your coming to morrow or next day to him at Oatlands, and may be under the present circumstances, you may think it more advisable than going to Mr. Lookes.

I shall certainly stay in Town to pass to you any where any accounts I may receive from Windsor. Mr. George Baker tells me he has send you his account by Lake

Indeed I am much better satisfied than I expected with his account he says at present there is no danger. I believe Hebberden is to be consulted. He was cupped again this morning, afterwards he went out as usual riding.

I remain very affectionately
Your humble servant,
and Uncle

William Henry
