Mr. Fortescue

Grosvenor Square June 10th 1768
55 part 8 A.M.

The Duke of Grafton promises to acquaint his Majesty that the Lord Chancellor had last night so little weight with Mr. Townshend, as he had himself before. This occasions the Duke of Grafton humbly to submit to his Majesty's Consideration whether the different Reports, spread in the World on this Subject to shew that the Administration can be made to deviate on Mr. Townshend's Account from their Plan formed, can be so effectually stopped as by Mr. Rigby's having the Honor of kissing His King's hand to Day.
The Duke of Grafton will have no Time in sounding Lord Glarus Sentiments & report them to his Majesty.
