

Duke of Portland

Oct. 2 1795

7989

The Duke of Portland humbly begs leave to lay before Your Majesty the proceedings of such of Your Majesty's confidential servants & other members of Your Privy Council as met yesterday & the day before for the purpose of examining into the causes of the present high price of Corn, the reports of the various & extensive speculations which had been formed in expectation of it, & the grounds of several very respectable opinions respecting the unproductive yield of the late Harvest, & to consider the means it would be most advisable to take take for preventing & obviating the bad effects which may arise from the existence or belief of any of the above circumstances - Your Majesty's Parental Anxiety for the welfare of Your People has disposed You to attend so closely to every informa-tion which has been given upon this subject, that probably it will not have escaped Your Majesty's recollection, that it has been the universal & unanimous opinion of all persons conversant in the Corn Trade, that although the price of Corn would fall immediately after Harvest, it would rise again soon afterwards, & that the price could not & never did find its true level 'till about the second week

which may above us well fare of every informa ably it will it has been the in the Corn immediately that the price the second
week

in November, when the business of sowing is completed, & the labourers come to be regularly employed in threshing out the seed. this observation which is equally applicable to all seasons & which in a great measure accounts for the <sup>present</sup> rise in the price of Corn, will run, as the Duke of Portland himself apprehends, unaltered in the present instance to a greater degree of weight when the harvest of the harvest the great abundance of every sort of grain, & the uncommon fulness of the weather are thrown into the same scale. & may be sufficient reason for not hastily resorting to the expedient of combinations to which too many are always ready to impute the rise in the price of this as well as of every other article of common consumption. Another striking circum-stance

circumstance is the unusually small quantity of Corn which has been sold at the London market, & the very considerable part corn of that quantity which was of the growth of this Kingdom in your Majesty's name by the enclosed minute that Mr Claude Scott the agent for Government thought himself called upon in prudence to contribute largely to the supply of the market & 4500 Quarters of the Wheat sold at the Tuesday market was brought thence by him & was part of the stock he had purchased on the Government account. Information was also sent to the Board from very good authority of the price of bread Corn at several markets at a great distance from Town. It appeared appraised that at the last market day at Oxford wheat sold for 15 <sup>s</sup> Bushel, at Biester for 13 & 6 at Buckingham for 10. 6, at Buckingham for 11. at Walsford for 10-5 & by accounts from several places in the North of England the price was from 10-6 to 13 <sup>s</sup> Bushell. Sir George Paul states the price of bread in his neighbourhood to be 3 <sup>d</sup> <sup>s</sup> pound but does not express any apprehensions of deficiency, in the Crop when one is threshed out, providing it is fairly brought to market, but of that he expresses his doubts in very strong & forcible terms to be with so small degree of immitive against the greediness of Speculation who, he thinks, will be the occasion of the most serious disturbances. Upon a full consideration of all these Circumstances Your Majesty's Servants were of opinion that it would be advisable, to revive the engagements entered into by them <sup>on the 6th July</sup> last summer & which expired on the first inst<sup>o</sup> respecting the quantity of Bread to be consumed & the abatement in of flour in their respective Families & that it should continue in force till the first of December; & Mr Claude Lott was further directed under certain restrictions to supply the London market weekly with 5000 Quarters of foreign Wheat during the course of the ensuing month at the expiration of which it is gradually to diminish that supply by edirect of special dishabanes. Upon that supply by selling 1000 quarters less every week than the preceding one, unless such a diminution should appear likely to produce any unpleasant occurrence of <sup>the progress of</sup> which he is instructed to give the earliest notice to the Board. As the Price & Apure of Bread had heretofore been frequently under the consideration of Your Majesty's Servants & as much conversation had passed upon that subject between them & the Lord Mayor & several of the Aldermen the advancement of the Lord Mayor was desired, the readily accepted at the next meeting of the Board to consult with His Brethren & to bring forward a plan for amending the Laws for regulating the Apure of Bread & he has engaged to submit it to the consideration of Your Majesty's Servants

Lawrence's ready answer must be ready to be introduced into Parliament at the opening of the Session. The Duke of Portland will certainly not pass upon your Majesty's indulgence with the details of the intended measure, & he will only mention that it is the Lord Mayor's opinion that the price should be regulated by the price of the Wheat instead of that of the flour, for the purpose of bringing me very singular fact to your Majesty's knowledge, which is that although the price of Wheat on the 29th of last month was within a penny per quarter the same as on the 25th of last June the price of flour on Tuesday last was from seven to ten shillings higher than it was <sup>on the 25th</sup> of the month of June

A very advantageous Marriage which his no objection to now permitting a Grant to be made to his son of the Reversion of the Office which he holds of Clerk of Parliaments.

Your Majesty will probably recollect that Mr Pitt was desirous of obtaining this Grant <sup>some</sup> some years, but that it was then stopped from Lord Thurlow's considering it as without the Recommendation of the Chancellor. Mr

Pitt has conversed fully on the subject with the present Chancellor, who will most readily concur in the arrangement. In this Relation as the Office has in repeated Instances for a long Course of Years been granted in Reversion, and such a Grant is sanctioned by the last Proceedings of the House of Lords respecting It; Mr Pitt is inclined to hope that your Majesty may not think the request improper, and it will in that Case be a real Satisfaction to him to be enabled by your Majesty's Goodness to contribute so essentially to the Comfort and happiness of a Family for which he is bound to interest himself.

Mr Pitt ought to apologise for intruding on your Majesty with so long a Statement which he has done with the view of laying fully before your Majesty the Circumstances on which he presumes to found the applica-tion.

Mr Pitt has ventured to avail himself

The Duke of Portland humbly begs leave to acquaint your Majesty, that he received this morning a letter from the Lord Chancellor, in which he laments his inability to find terms sufficiently expressive of his gratitude for the repeated proofs your Majesty has been graciously pleased to give him of your great goodness & clemency. That he trusts to the magnanimity & liberality of your Majesty to accept with your wonted indulgence the humble request of his sister Lady Estlin that your Majesty will supercede in consideration of the superior value she sets upon the interest of her sons, not to be the means of retarding their advancement to so high high a mark of Your Majesty's Royal Favor. He concludes by saying, that this knowledge of his Sister's sentiments has greatly relieved him from the difficulty, which notwithstanding the offer Your Majesty had commended me to make to him, he could not but have felt in proposing any variation in the Terms of a Favor, which, he was sensible, it was his Duty to receive precisely in the manner & to the extent Your Majesty was graciously pleased to confer it — The Duke of Portland therefore humbly offers the inclosed Warrant for Your Royal

Sir

I have this day received a packet from Windsor, in which is inclosed a most gracious Letter which your Majesty is pleased to write to me. I am infinitely sensible, Sir, of this condescension, & beg leave to return my humble thanks to your Majesty for it; & for the prize-performance of the University of Göttingen, of w<sup>ch</sup> a considerable number had been sent me, but not those your Majesty has condescended to order me in this Packet. I shall be happy, at my leisure, & as my spirits permit, to observe the improvements which the University is making in religious knowledge, under your Majesty's continued favour & encouragement.

I felt, Sir, with all your subjects, a great satisfaction in hoping that the late fine season would contribute to your Majesty's refreshment, as well as to the amusement of her Majesty & the Royal family at Weymouth. This satisfaction is increased by your Majesty's & their safe return; & I indulge in the best hopes, notwithstanding the aspect of the times, that it will please God to conduct your Majesty, and your people, who are so dear to You, thro' all the Difficulties, which his adorable wisdom may, for the present, suffer to obstruct your unwearied endeavours for the general good.

Your Majesty is too good in commanding me to say a word of my own health. It is such as I have reason to expect on the eve of seventy seven. My chief concern is that my infirmities disable me from discharging those duties, as I ought, which I owe to your Majesty, & particularly for the notice with which your Majesty has just now been pleased to honour me.

An Amendm<sup>t</sup>. was proposed to be made thereto by leaving out after the Word Throne at the End of the first Paragraph, to the End of the Address and inserting instead thereof the following Words (Videlicet)

We

We beg leave, humbly to entreat Your Majesty to review the events of the three last Years, and to compare the situation and circumstances of the Belligerent Powers at the period when hostilities commenced, and at the present moment, To consider that a great Majority of the numerous Allies, on whose co-operation Your Majesty chiefly relied for success, have abandoned the common cause, - and sought for security in Peace, While others have been unfortunately, thrown into alliance with the enemy, That our foreign Possessions in the West Indies - have in many instances, been over run, pillaged, and destroyed, and the security of all of them put in imminent hazard, That the expeditions to the Coast of France have proved either disgracefull or abortive Tending (without any rational prospect of public benefit) to tarnish the British Name by a shamefull sacrifice of those to whom your Majesty's Ministers had held out the hope of Public Protection, That amidst all these adverse and disgracefull events, there has been an expenditure of Blood and Treasure unparalleled in the History of former Wars.

Such being the result of the Measures

8 8009 (2)

which have been pursued we cannot honestly discharge our duty to Your Majesty, The Country, and ourselves - without fervently imploring Your Maty to reflect upon the evident impracticabi-lity of attaining in the present Contest what have hitherto been considered as the Objects of it.

We therefore humbly entreat Your Majesty no longer to act upon the opinion That the Governing Powers of France are incapable of maintaining the accustomed relation of Peace and Amity. An opinion formerly proved to be unfounded by the situation of The States of America and of those Nations of Europe who have throughout maintained a safe and dignified neutrality, and recently by the conduct and present condition of Prussia and Spain and the Princes of the Empire. But that Your Majesty will be Graciously pleased to take decided and immediate measures for bringing about a Negotiation for Peace with France whatever may be the present or future form of her internal Govern<sup>t</sup> and look for indemnity where alone indemnity is to be found, on the restoration of industry plenty and tranquility at home.

While

While we thus earnestly implore Your Majesty to consider in Your Royal Wisdom how fruitless the pursuit of the War is become, and how idle and imaginary the supposed obstacle to Peace.

We declare that if the existing Powers in France were to reject a pacific negotiation proposed by Your Majesty upon suitable terms and to persevere in hostilities for their own Aggrandizement or with a View to the establishment of their system of Government in other Countries, We would strenuously support a vigorous prosecution of the War, confident that the spirit of the Nation, when roused in such a cause, will still be able to accomplish what is just & necessary, however exhausted and weakened by the ill concerted projects of those who have directed Your Majesty's Councils.

Downing Street Oct. 31. 1795. 1. P.M.

Lord Grenville has the honour to transmit to Your Majesty the answers to the Joint Address of the two Houses, and to the sepa-rate Address of the House of Lords. He humbly hopes that Your Majesty will have the goodness to excuse their not having been sent earlier this morning morning which has been owing to the late hour to which the debate of yesterday was continued.
