Mr Pitt humbly begs leave to acquaint Your Majesty, that Dr Lawrence this Day in a very long Speech opposed bringing up the Report of the Resolutions passed in the Committee on the Union. He was answered by Mr Mordaunt (who spoke for the first time and with great good sense) and more fully and with great effect by Mr Ryder; after which Mr Bankes spoke against the Resolutions, and Sir

Richard Glynor, Sir William Young, Col<sup>l</sup> Wood and Mr Nicholl for them. The House divided in favor of the Resolutions being read a second Time, 206 to 26; and the three first Resolutions were agreed to without further Debate. The Consideration of the Remainder of the Report was deferred on account of the Lateness of the Hour till Monday

Monday May 5th 1799.

Mr Pitt has great Satisfaction in being enabled humbly to acquaint your Majesty that on the Report this Day of the Resolutions containing the Articles of the proposed Union with Ireland, they were all agreed to by the House, and ordered to be communicated to the Lords together with an Address laying them before your Majesty.

Mr Grey moved some Amendments in the 4th Article conformable to the Plan he had before stated respecting the Representation, and Dr Lawrence also renewed his Proposal on the same Subject, but neither entered into any discussion or called for a Division.

Mr Tierney afterwards moved to recommit the Commercial Article with a View to propose a Duty on the Export of Wool, which after a short Conversation was negatived by yeas 151 to 19. Some Objection was also stated to moving the Address to Night, but was not prejud, and it was finally agreed to Lord Grenville has the honour to acquaint Your Majesty that Count Woron-zow has this day communicated to him in confidence an order from the Emperor of Russia allowing him to ask for his recall recall from this Empire. This order couched in very dry & harsh terms, is grounded on some representations which Count Woronzow had made on the subject of some of the Empress's late orders. He wishes that this should not be known, but allowed Lord Grenville to mention it to Your Majesty.

He also communicated to Lord Grenville some private letters which he has received giving the most terrible description of the state of affairs at Petersburg.

Lord Grenville requested Earl Spencer, he being deputed for the drawing room, to lay before Your Majesty the arrangement respecting the Address as Mr Pitt & he settled it this morning on finding that the last steps could not be taken in the House

House of Commons till tomorrow, and which Lord Grenville had hoped to have been able to lay before Your Majesty, for Your Majesty's commands upon it, if the debate in the House of Lords had not been protracted till near four.

Lord Grenville presumes to transmit to Your Majesty the answer to be given to the Address if Your Majesty shall be pleased to approve of it.

Lord Grenville also humbly submits h

It passed through both thighs, but happily, in such direction, as not to endanger his life, and only through fleshy parts. Every kind of Assistance is rendered, and he is so near to York Hospital, as to derive all manner of comfort and help from thence. Mr. Heate has seen Mr. Rush; — concerted proper measures of relief, and will meet him there at twelve tomorrow.

The Duke of Portland believes the Despatches which have been received today, from Ireland will prove so satisfactory to Your Majesty that he feels it to be his Duty to lay them immediately before Your Majesty —

Portland House
Thursday 22<sup>d</sup> May, 1800

+ 9588 - 9

The Duke of Portland most humbly requests your Majesty's leave to express the very great satisfaction with which he lays before your Majesty the Dispatch he has just received from the Lord Lieutenant by the express from the Duke of Portland most firmly believes the sentiments professed by Sir Laurence Parsons on your Majesty's late Providential Deliverance to be, with very few exceptions, universally & indelibly engrained on the hearts of your

Your Majesty's Irish, as well as on those of Your British Subjects. & because, he conceives himself authorized by the Count of Wednesday's debate to offer his most dutiful congratulations to Your Majesty on the certain & successful Issue of the Great Measure of Union, which considering the numbers & shadow of its supporters & the temper disposition & desperation, which its opponents are no longer able to conceal it is almost impossible to suppose will be such, as will be perfectly agreeable to Your Majesty

The other Despatches from the Lord Lieutenant contain only, a Petition from the person calling himself the Viscount Gormanston for the Lord Lieutenant

<sup>favoured</sup> <sup>in your Majesty</sup> Serjeants, "Representation" of his Claim to a Nat of Summons to Parliament in consequence of the Reversal of two Writs against his ancestors & the Report of your Majesty's Law Serjeants of Ireland in his behalf. & six Petitions against the same, which remain detained at the office - & the ~~last~~ <sup>last</sup> dispatch is merely an acknowledgement of the account which Mr Wickham had given of the actions at Saxe & Moeskroth which the Duke of Portland had transmitted to the Lord Lieutenant

The Duke of Portland has received an application this evening from Alderman Sir Mathew Lewes, Sir John Lanes & Mr Shaw who together

Duke of Portland together with Mr Smith their Clerk have been deputed by the Corporation of Leadenhall for the City of London to attend your Majesty in order that your Majesty's pleasure respecting the time at which your Majesty will please to be attended with the Address of that Body - & he accordingly most humbly requests that your Majesty will graciously condescend to signify to him your Commands in that respect -

27. May 1800.

Dear Sir.

I am this moment returned from the House of Commons, where I have been detained by the Committee on the Income bill till this late hour. I am extremely sorry I had not the pleasure of seeing you when you did me the honour of calling, as I could better have explained the state of the bill to which you allude, perhaps, verbally, than I can do by this note - It has been the subject of very serious consideration of the Solicitors

To

General, to myself, with the assistance we could obtain, for a considerable time; & I think it is now completed. At the same time I am anxious to know what was done with respect to the will of his late Majesty King George the first, pursuant to which I have obtained the Duke of Grafton's order for inspection of some papers at the paper office. I am aware of nothing to prevent the will being early brought forward; but I was very anxious not to offer it to the consideration of parliament without every previous consideration which the nature of the business would permit. I have given

John Mitford (aft. 1st Baron Redesdale) to the Earl Smith

9591 a general view of the necessity for the aid of parliament, & the particular objects intended to be embraced by the bill, to the Lords Chamberlain & Mr Pitt; but they have not seen it in detail. Lord Eldon has also been informed of the measure proposed.

The state of anxiety in which Lord Murray has been with respect to his son, & his unwillingness, at any time, to give attention to parliamentary business, have induced me to forbear from troubling him. I could have wished to have talked to Lord Thurlow upon it; but I must confess I have not courage to struggle with the peculiarities of his mind in a private conversation upon it. You will judge of the difficulty of dealing with him on such a bill. I told you that about four years ago, being then treasurer of the Inner Temple, I had to propose to his Lordship, as one of four surviving Masters of the Temple estate, a conveyance to new trustees the form which has been pursued for several centuries. I asked Lord Denby & Lord Stolon to my assistance but was not able to prevail on him to approve the draft of the deed; & four successive measures have been equally unsuccessful. The thing is abandoned in despair. Permit me to thank you for your kind expressions of regard, & believe me to be, with very sincere esteem,

Dear Sir, Yr. very faithful servant
Samuel Smith Esq.

Sir 9592

I thank God that, amidst so many & such perils, your Majesty's sacred person is still safe. But these congratulations being the subject of a publick address from your faithful clergy of my Diocese on that most interesting occasion, & being, as I hoped, to be presented soon, I thought it would be too presuming in me to trouble your Majesty with a private letter on a subject <sup>wh</sup> is not to be reflected on without horror. I find however that our Address cannot be carried through the usual & necessary forms yet of some time, so as that all the Clergy may have an opportunity of subscribing it with hand & heart, as they wish to do. Finding this delay therefore unavoidable, I can no longer repress the impatience I feel of expressing the sense I have of your Majesty's late wonderful deliverance, & of my thankfulness to Almighty God for his gracious interposition, in a moment so full of terror to all your subjects. If you yourself, Sir, felt little of that terror, it is because your Majesty is not apt to be alarmed by sudden surprizes, & because your Majesty has just reason to know that no Sovereign of this or any Country had ever left to fear.

It is with infinite satisfaction I hear that the Queen & Royal family are restored to their former health & spirits: And humbly begging your Majesty's pardon for the liberty of this short Letter,

I am,

Sir,

Your Majesty's most obedient & devoted subject & servant

Sir,

9594

Having found it impossible yesterday, when I had the honor to pay my duty to your Majesty at St. James's, to take your Majesty's commands, respecting a Thanksgiving Prayer to Almighty God for the merciful Interposition of His good Providence, in bringing to nought the late horrible attempt against your Majesty's Person & Life; it is my Duty to inform your Majesty that I have presumed to print & to send forth a Prayer, which I trust will be read in all the Churches in the Metropolis & within the Bills of Mortality, Tomorrow, tho' I had no Authority for so doing. I have done it, Sir, under a full

Confidence of your Majestys Affection & that of the ardent desire of your Subjects to express their thankfulness to God, the Guardian of good & godly Kings. I am, Sir, your Majestys most gratefull and Devoted Subject & Servant

Copies of the Prayer will go by this Evenings Mail to Ireland.

A FORM
PRAYER and THANKSGIVING
ALMIGHTY GOD.

O Almighty God, who, in all Ages of the World, hast manifested thy Power and Goodness in thy Providential Protection of good and godly Kings, ruling in Equity and Justice, and professing and cherishing thy holy and eternal Truth: We, thine unworthy Servants, the sinful People of this Land, do prostrate ourselves before Thee, with Praise and Thanksgiving, for that Thou hast mercifully vouchsafed to frustrate, now as in former Instances, the atrocious Attempts of desperate and bloody minded Men against the sacred Person of Thy Servant, our Sovereign.

We acknowledge it to be of thy unspeakable Mercy, O Lord, that he hath not been cut off for the good of the Nation. Continue, we beseech Thee, thy watchful Care over him. Be Thou his Defence and Shield, and let no Weapon raised against him prosper. Cloath his Enemies with Shame, and disappoint their Treasons.

We

We thank Thee, O Lord, that thou hast knit together the Hearts of this whole Nation, as the Heart of One Man, for the Defence of our King, our Laws, and our Religion. Strengthen and confirm us, O Lord, we beseech Thee, in this Righteous and Loyal Consent and Union. Long may the Crown flourish on the Head of thine Anointed, and may the Work of Thee, his God, prosper in his Hands. And when it shall be thy blessed Will to call him to exchange this earthly Kingdom for the Inheritance of a Glory that fadeth not away, grant that his Sceptre may remain with his Children, and his Childrens Children, from Generation to Generation: And that they, fashioning themselves after his Example, zealous for thy Truth, and ruling according to thy Law, may walk in the Light of thy Countenance for ever, and, through thy Blessing, reign like him in the Hearts of their People. These Things, we humbly beg, O merciful God, for our Sovereign, for his Royal House, and for this Nation, in the Name, and through the Mediation of Jesus Christ our Lord and Saviour. Amen.
